

SNOW RIDES ON WEST WIND INTO
MIDWEST TODAYWinter Drives Spring-like Weather On Toward East

BULLETIN

Chicago, Jan. 15 — (UP) — Snow rode on a west wind into Chicago today to end a mid-winter spring. The snowfall succeeded an all-night rain. Temperatures dropped slowly.

The Weather Bureau's prediction for the middle west was that the mercury would go down to 20 degrees tonight, with moderating temperatures tomorrow. Snow was promised for most all sections in the mid-continent area.

BY UNITED PRESS

Winter was crowding spring off the weather map of North America today, claiming 10 lives in a Tennessee tornado as it drove eastward.

Midwest and Atlantic seaboard regions where flowers are blooming and record warmth has belied the season began to whiten under snow. Clouds hid the sun and rain fell in many places where boys went swimming and girls took sun baths yesterday.

Snow fell in Los Angeles today for the first time in 54 years. It was the first snow thousands of persons ever had seen, except on distant mountain peaks.

The fall continued an hour. The temperature was 38. Damage to citrus groves was feared.

Cold In Canada

Icy blasts swept down from Canada, where temperatures plunged as low as 38 degrees below zero. In Nebraska, mantled by two to eight inches of snow, the mercury dropped to 18 below at Norfolk.

The hold of spring-like weather on the eastern half of the nation was relinquished grudgingly. At Altoona, Pa., where an unofficial thermometer reading of 104 degrees in the sun was reported yesterday.

Mid-January—mid-winter: and yet—

The boys went swimming near Auburn, N. Y.

Dandelions mellowed the Boston scene.

Bass were biting in Lake Chautauque, N. Y.

Unintown, Pa., had a baseball game.

Sap flowed from midwestern maples.

Bees went to work in Ontario.

And in Elko, Nevada, it was 35 degrees below zero.

farmers were doing spring plowing today.

The death toll was recorded near Trenton, Tenn., where a freak tornado killed nine members of one family and a neighbor's child.

Heavy snow lay over Pacific coast, Rocky Mountain and plains states.

Snow succeeded scattered rains in the midwest and was predicted for points farther east before night.

Thunder Storm

The second thunder and lightning storm of the winter occurred during the night in Chicago. Light snow followed.

Thunderstorms also were reported in Buffalo, where the temperature was 53 and going lower, and in central and southern Indiana.

The lower Wabash river reaches were in flood stage.

Other cities reported weather conditions as follows: New York, temperature 51, heavy fog; New Haven, temperature 55, partly cloudy; Harrisburg, temperature 54; Columbus, 60, intermittent rain; Boston, 59, with a drop in prospect; Pittsburgh, 63 and falling; Kane, Pa., 72, with fruit trees budding; Denver, above zero weather prevailing Kansas City, temperatures in the 20's.

NOVA SCOTIA FLOOD

Truro, Nova Scotia, Jan. 15—(UP)—Hastily recruited gangs of workmen, using dynamite to remove obstructions, today eased the rising waters which flooded five towns and villages last night when a dam at Londonderry broke.

A schoolhouse was swept away but the 200 children were all safe at home at the time.

The torrent swept along a 25-mile front, destroying property worth several hundred thousands of dollars, and threatening many lives.

One man is dead and several are missing.

Today several crews of men, hastily recruited from the stricken countryside, were struggling to divert the flood waters to streams and rivers.

Obstructions are being blasted to clear the way for the rushing water.

The towns of Acadia Mines, Londonderry and Great Village are the worst hit.

Telephone communication, cut off when miles of telephone poles were uprooted and strewn about the countryside, still is interrupted.

Dixon Deprived
Of Phone Service
16 Years Ago Today

Sixteen years ago today—January 15, 1916—The people of Dixon and community learned just how much they depended on their telephone service; for early in the morning of that day the Countryman building on Galena avenue, in which the Dixon Home Telephone Co. Exchange was located, was completely destroyed by fire with a loss of $80,000.

And as a result of that fire Manager Louis Pitcher of the telephone company and his assistants established a record in meeting an emergency; for one day after the fire a temporary exchange for handling long distance calls was opened in the Graff building on First street; and just fourteen days afterwards local service was resumed through a second temporary exchange on the third floor of the Schuler building at the corner of First street and Galena avenue.

And during those fourteen days the people of this town, leashed by bitter experience to what extent they needed their telephones. As the city had no other means of communicating fire alarms arrangements were made to have alarms sounded by whistles at the factory nearest to the scene of the fire; while items for The Telegraph were given to the carrier boys or left at the homes of Circulator Robert Fulton on North Galena avenue or Commissioner Fred Dana on Depot avenue.

Tenants of the Countryman building whose property was completely destroyed, aside from the Dixon Home Telephone Co., were Matthias & H. E. Wingert, Dr. C. H. Frizelle and E. W. Woolley. J. A. Snyder's confectionery store, adjacent to the Countryman building, was destroyed, and the Socialist hall and J. A. Daunter cigar store was damaged by the early morning blaze.

Popular Nurse Of Amboy Was Called

(Telegraph Special Service)

Amboy, Jan. 15—Mrs. Harriet Tait Dickinson, popular nurse of this city, passed away at the Amboy hospital at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon following two weeks illness which resulted from an attack of intestinal influenza. Funeral services will be held at the Amboy M. E. church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Rev. E. M. Edwards officiating, and with burial in the Woodside cemetery at Lee Center.

Mrs. Dickinson, daughter of Spencer (deceased) and Mary Prescott Tait, was born in Compton Feb. 8, 1906 and is survived by her mother; one sister, Olive, Tait of Amboy; three brothers, Kenneth and George Tait of Amboy and Richard Tait of Evanston; and a son, Dale, aged 5.

Galena Man Enters
Congressional Race

Freeport, Ill., Jan. 15—(UP)—Leo E. Allen, Galena, Circuit court clerk, today announced he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from the 13th district. He will oppose William R. Johnson, Freeport, the incumbent. Allen is district Vice-Commander of the American Legion.

COXEY AMBITIOUS

Massillon, O. Jan. 15—(UP)—"General" Jacob S. Coxe flung his hat into the presidential arena today by declaring himself a candidate on the same platform that won him the mayoralty race last fall.

His platform calls for issuance of bonds of graduating denominations for public improvements and to provide labor for the unemployed.

POULOS' GROCERY
ON FIFTH STREET
HELD UP LAST EVE

Lone Armed Bandit Got
$40: Had Been Seen
About The City

Peter Poulos who conducts a grocery store at 112 Fifth street, was held up by a lone masked bandit last night about 10:15, who emptied the cash register of its contents, reported to about $40. Poulos was alone in the store at the time.

The bandit, who wore a handkerchief across the lower part of his face entered suddenly, flourishing a revolver and commanding the store proprietor, "hands up" walked back of the counter, opened the cash register and emptied it of its contents. He then backed out of the store, still pointing the revolver at the proprietor, and ran west on Fifth street.

Before entering the store the bandit cut the telephone wires on the outside of the building and it was about ten minutes after the holdup before the police could be notified.

Enter Bank Building.

About 1:30 this morning two strange men were observed leaving the Dixon National Bank building on the fire escape which had been weighted down by the ice. They had gained entrance to the waiting room of the suite occupied by Dr. Willard Thompson but were unable to enter the offices. Three men saw the two strangers hurrying down the ice-covered fire escape at the early morning hour and reported to the police.

Sheriff Fred Richardson and Deputy Ward Miller went to Eridena this afternoon to investigate a series of robberies at the Glessner store in the village, which have occurred during the past ten days. At the supper hour when the store is closed, entrance has been gained through a window and the cash register rifled, according to reports. In none of the visits have all of the contents of the cash drawer been removed, only a part of the money being taken. In the series of visits the thieves are thought to have obtained about $50. Only money is believed to have been taken, the stock not being molested.

Kyte Creek Bridge
Damaged By Crash

A heavily loaded truck hauling a trailer crashed into the Kyte creek bridge west of Rochelle on the Lincoln Highway about the noon hour today and practically put the structure out of commission. Sergeant O. W. Kempster and Officer Hal Roberts of the state highway police force were near the scene at the time of the crash. The floor of the bridge sagged more than 18 inches and at 2 o'clock this afternoon only light pleasure cars were being permitted to pass over it.

A force from the local state highway department was rushed to the scene at the noon hour and it was hoped that the light traffic could be continued temporarily over the bridge. The highway department force was using jacks to level the floor and make it safe for light travel. State police were on guard detouring the heavy traffic.

Three Put To Death
For Murders Today

Chicago, Jan. 15—(AP)—John Reed, 26, and Ben Norsing, 19, Negroes, were executed today for the slaying of a meat market proprietor.

Reed died at 12:01 A. M., and Norsing at 12:12 A. M.

Fifteen minutes before he died, Reed handed a statement to Wardens David Money penny in which he attributed his plight to "bad company." He said it would be better if "boys would be obedient to their parents."

The pair killed John Martin last August 3, during a holdup.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 15—(UP)—Joe Hershon, sentenced to death for murder, died today on the gallows in the county jail here denying he had fired the shot that killed Charles H. Dingman, Jr., a patrolman.

DePriest Names Six
Negroes For Places

Washington, Jan. 15—(UP)—Congressman Oscar DePriest of Illinois has designated six men from his district to take the physical and mental examinations for entrance to West Point. His office said today all were Negroes.

DePriest has two vacancies at West Point to fill.

The six will take the examinations March 1 at Fort Sheridan, Illinois. They are:

Benjamin Oliver Davis, Jr., Benjamin S. Jones, John G. Bennett, Francis D'Anglas, William W. Thomas and Jesse Banks Davis and D'Anglas are designated as appointees and the others as alternates.

DePriest appointed Negroes to West Point and Annapolis immediately after his election to Congress. His appointee was disqualified at Annapolis for physical disability. At West Point his appointee was admitted but in less than a year was dropped for deficiency in mathematics.

He also has a vacancy at Annapolis soon to be filled.

SIMPLIFY THEORY OF SLAYING OF
WOMAN AND MAID

Five Negroes Held In East For Questioning By Police

Middleburg, Va., Jan. 15—(AP)—A simplified theory of the motive behind the brutal murder of Mrs. Agnes Boeing Isley and her maid was adopted by authorities today as their search for the suspected killers spread to wider territory.

Proceeding on the belief that George Crawford, discharged Negro employee of the wealthy sportsman, committed the crime with the aid of an accomplice, the officers said they had practically decided robbery was the motive, although no valuables were taken.

The murderer, as they reconstructed the crime, sought money or valuables and planned no killing until he found himself recognized. Then Mrs. Isley and her elderly servant, Mina Buckner, were beaten to death. The crime took place Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning in a cottage of the estate of the sports-loving widow of Spencer Isley, Milwaukee banker.

Somewhere in Virginia five Negroes, four of them men, one a woman, were held today as material witnesses. Officers were sure the quintet had been in touch with Crawford just before or after the murder. Their whereabouts and names were kept secret as a protection against violence.

Evidence held by Washington police which they considered linked Crawford definitely with the crime was disclosed today to consist of a letter, apparently in his handwriting, found in Mrs. Isley's automobile which was abandoned near the Capital the day after the crime.

Today the sorrowing neighbors of Mrs. Isley, including internationally known horsemen and women of the surrounding country, gathered for her funeral. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Boeing, were expected here from Florida. After services at Emmanuel Episcopal church, the body will be taken to Milwaukee for burial.

Leech Sends Two
To Vandalia Farm

County Judge William Leech this morning sentenced two prisoners in the County Court to serve 90 days each at the state work farm at Vandalia and to stand committed until their fines of $250 and costs are paid. They were George Eberly of Franklin Grove, who several weeks ago pleaded guilty by a jury in the county court on an information charging him with the operation of a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition, and who was surrendered into court this morning by his bondsmen and received sentence, and George Willivize of near Walton, who was arrested early in the week on a warrant charging wife and child abandonment. He appeared before Judge Leech this morning and entered a plea of guilty to the charge. The court advised the defendant of the necessity of his caring for his children until their maturity and sentenced him to the state work farm.

Al Smith's Son Is Held By N. Y. Court

New York, Jan. 15—(AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith's youngest son, Walter, was arrested on a technical charge of homicide today in connection with a street accident which police said was entirely unavoidable.

Harry Wallace, a 55-year-old resident of the Bowery, was killed when, police said, he walked in front of an automobile young Smith was driving. The technical charge was made as a matter of police routine, police announcing that no culpability attached to Smith.

Hearing was set for a week from today.

Peoria Policemen
Indicted By Jury

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 15—(UP)—Among 25 indictments returned by the January grand jury today were two for burglary against Policemen Lark Thornton and Ervin Callahan who allegedly were found crouched before a safe in the office of the McElwee Packing Company.

Another bill charges Dr. Harry H. Whitten, Peoria physician, with performing a criminal operation on Helen Hockenbury, 19, Washburn, Ill. Jointly charged is Raymond Miller, undertaker, formerly of Metamora, married and the father of two children. Miller lives near Princeville and was alleged to have been responsible for the condition that nearly cost Miss Hockenbury's life.

DRAMATIC FLIGHT WITH 'OXYGEN ROOM' TO SAVE LIFE OF GIRL IN DESERT SANITARIUM NOT NECESSARY

Tucson, Ariz., Jan. 15—(UP)—The dramatic cross-country flight of Pilot Stuart Reis, bearing by airplane an "oxygen room" for Alice Hillard, pneumonia sufferer, may have been an unnecessary bit of valor.

Physicians who heard aviators have praise Reis for his dogged flight from New York in face of weather that forced him down time after time, said their patient was doing so well she might not need the device.

Reis arrived here just before midnight last night. He started Tuesday from New York after an emergency call came for the appar-

Fate Before Ohio
Grand Jury Today

JAMES STENHOUSE

Millersburg, O., Jan. 15—(UP)—The age old question of whether a father has the right to take the life of his invalid child—an incurable idiot—confronted a group of small town business men and farmers on the grand jury today as they deliberated the case of James Stenhouse.

He had confessed, to ease his own mind, that three years ago he killed his two-year-old son, David Oscar, who suffered from convulsions, whose existence was one of constant screaming and lack of understanding.

Driven frantic by the boy's plight Stenhouse, a British war veteran, finally choked himself to death by drinking liquor. He feared for his wife who constantly cared for the child.

"I loved the boy just as I did my other children but I couldn't stand it. I thought he was killing my wife," Stenhouse said in his confession.

Rosenwald's Estate
Put At $20,000,000

Chicago, Jan. 15—(UP)—The will of Julius Rosenwald was filed in Probate Court today showing an estate of $20,000,000.

The Rosenwald Family Association, formed to carry on the philanthropies of the merchant, was bequeathed $11,000,000 and the remainder of the estate divided equally among the five children.

No provision was made for Mrs. Adele Gooding Rosenwald, the widow, her husband having provided for her before his death.

Executors of the estate are two children, Lessing J. Rosenwald and Mrs. Marion R. Stern. The other children are Mrs. Edith R. Stern, Mrs. Adele R. Levy and William Rosenwald. Lessing Rosenwald this week was elected to succeed his father as Chairman of the Board of Sears Roebuck & Company, the mail order house upon which the Rosenwald fortune was founded.

Rev. Beech Arrives
Safely In Shanghai

The many Dixon friends of Rev. and Mrs. Jos. Beech will be happy to learn that Mrs. Beech has received a letter from Rev. Beech written on the President Hoover, just before it docked, on Dec. 22nd, telling of his safe arrival at Shanghai, China, after a fairly good trip, with the exception of a severe storm between Honolulu and Yokohama.

It will be of interest to learn that Dr. Beech writes that the President's line of boats may dock immediately at the city dock of Shanghai and not wait quite a few hours at sea before being permitted to approach the city, as was formerly done and as many of the steamship lines still have to do.

Rochelle Police
Chief Badly Hurt

Rochelle, Ill., Jan. 15—(UP)—En route to Oregon, where he is defendant in an automobile damage suit, Police Chief Ambrose Hodges of Rochelle narrowly escaped death today when his machine skidded from the ice-covered highway, turned over and burst into flames.

Attorney Fred Gardner, Rochelle, member of the State Aviation Commission and a nationally known football official, who was following Hodges in another motor car, dragged the wrecked Hodges, seriously hurt, was rushed to a hospital here.

ATTY. GENERAL'S
ASSISTANT TO GO
TO ISLANDS SOON

Will Investigate Law Enforcement Machinery In Hawaii

Washington, Jan. 15—(AP)—A thorough overhaul of the law-enforcement machinery in the Hawaiian Islands may result from a study to be conducted on the spot immediately by Seth W. Richardson, Assistant Attorney General.

Outcome of the Massie-Fortescue incident in Honolulu, the Justice Department investigation requested by Senate resolution took definite form last night with announcement of detailed instructions from Attorney General Mitchell to his assistant.

Richardson will leave at the earliest possible time with a staff of six or more aides; will study every angle of the local enforcement machinery with a view to possible recommendations for changes, and will go also into the operation of federal courts there in prohibition and narcotic cases.

Mitchell made it clear he was not in any way prejudging the agencies of justice in the islands, nor intimating that reorganization was needed, but he asked Richardson to study courts, police, jury systems and the parole board.

At the same time he was given blanket authority to "go into any phase of the matter that you deem advisable."

The Massie-Fortescue case will be gone into from the ground up, gathering information on the spot in complete disregard of already accumulated statements, so as to avoid any distortion and exaggeration.

May Change Laws

Honolulu, Jan. 15—(AP)—In efforts to curb assaults upon women in Honolulu, Governor Lawrence M. Judd expects to recommend to the forthcoming special session of the Hawaiian legislature that the crime of rape be made punishable by death or life imprisonment.

The governor so announced in a cable to Secretary Wilbur of the Interior Department, in which he charged himself against congressional changes of partial responsibility for the city's crime situation.

While Judd prepared for the legislative session Monday, defense attorneys chafed at the delay in presenting the grand jury murder charges against Mrs. Granville Fortescue, society leader, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas Massie, and two enlisted men.

Deputy Prosecutor Griffith Wright said the case would not be presented to the grand jury until next week.

Delay Explained

He explained the prosecution has not completed its investigation of the slaying of Joseph Kahahawai, for whose death a week ago the four are accused. The Hawaiian was one of five men charged with assaulting the Lieutenant's wife.

The first panel from which jurors to try Mrs. Fortescue and her co-defendants will be selected was drawn yesterday. The 26 men include six Chinese, five Hawaiians, three Japanese, two Portuguese and ten Anglo-Saxons.

Governor Judd, in his cable to Secretary Wilbur, asserted that the person who furnished information on which the House Naval Subcommittee based its criticism of himself and other Hawaiian officials, had been "grossly misinformed."

He stated that he had granted executive clemency to A. Akeolu, a native amateur boxer who pleaded guilty to assault upon a Chinese girl in 1929 and now is held as one of the attackers of Mrs. Massie, but said evidence pointed to extenuating circumstances in the first case.

Hoover Refuses To Discuss Politics

Washington, Jan. 15—(UP)—President Hoover is refusing to discuss his personal political future with anyone, it was said at the White House today.

"The President refuses to see anyone on personal politics or to discuss personal politics," a White House official said. "The President is giving his undivided attention to his relief program and problems confronting the country and is not thinking about personal politics at this time."

This word was evoked by Postmaster General Brown's announcement that activities are about to begin to insure President Hoover's re-nomination. Brown said the President's name would be entered in state primaries in accordance with the various legal requirements.

There never has been any doubt among Republicans, Brown said, but that Mr. Hoover would be renominated. Various cabinet members have already made speeches forecasting this. Secretary of War Hurley is shortly to make a speaking tour in the interest of Mr. Hoover.

The President, it is understood, has taken the position that he must give his undivided attention to assisting economic recovery. He is understood to have told friends that he was determined to push this activity and to undertake measures he regarded as necessary without regard to his political fortunes.

FEAR DESTROYER OF COAST GUARD WITH 85 IS LOST

Rammed by Freighter; Lost In Fog After Being Picked Up

BULLETIN
New York, Jan. 15—(AP)—The Mackay Radio Corporation received a message at 2:20 P. M., saying the freighter Lemuel Burrows, en route to New London with the stricken destroyer Herndon in tow, had lost the town and was in a dense fog.

New York, Jan. 15—(AP)—Patrolling for rum runners in a dense fog 60 miles south of Montauk Point, the Coast Guard destroyer William C. Herndon with a crew of 85 men and eight officers was rammed by the freighter Lemuel Burrows this afternoon. She sent out an SOS and then was silent.

It was feared the slender destroyer might have sunk.

Captain Randolph Ridgely, commander of the New York Coast Guard division, expressed apprehension over the safety of the vessel.

"She is lightly built," he said, "and if she were hit by a freighter the chances are she might be pretty badly smashed up."

Woods Hole, Mass., Jan. 15—(AP)—The Coast Guard station here reported that the tanker Lemuel Burrows was towing the Coast Guard destroyer Herndon into New London, Conn., but was still appealing for aid.

The guardsmen said the Herndon was hit on the port side at the forward fire room and that this would probably mean a loss of life if the impact was heavy enough.

Campbell To Seek Governorship Only

Belleville, Ill., Jan. 15—(AP)—Bruce A. Campbell, seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, today telegraphed friends here that he was "a candidate for Governor and no other office."

In Congress Today

Washington, Jan. 15—(UP)—A final vote in the House on the $2,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation measure was impeded today by a desperate effort of farm representatives to extend the corporation's help to farmers.

The House yesterday accepted an amendment setting aside $200,000,000 of the credit fund for loans to farmers through intermediate credit banks and agricultural associations. Farm leaders, however, feared this would be stricken out on a later vote. Hence they sought approval of a Senate amendment providing $500,000,000 for direct loans to farmers to be supervised by the Secretary of Agriculture. There was a possibility that this maneuvering might delay a final vote on President Hoover's credit project until tomorrow.

In the Senate a $2,000,000,000 federal construction program was urged by Senator Wagner, Dem., N. Y., as the only solution of the country's unemployment problem. Wagner proposed to finance such a building program by a long-term issue of government bonds.

The Senate adopted a resolution by Senator Thomas, Dem., Okla., giving the War Department permission to lend all kinds of equipment to relief agencies.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's personal attorney appeared before the House Judiciary committee to defend the Secretary from the charges brought by Rep. Patman, Dem., Texas who is seeking Mellon's impeachment. He denied that Mellon owned a controlling interest in any corporation or had tried to influence the Republic of Colombia in granting a rich oil concession now held by Mellon interests.

Anti-prohibitionists of both parties in the House agreed to seek an early roll-call on a proposed constitutional amendment which would repeal the 18th amendment and restore control of the liquor traffic to the states. The new amendment would require ratification by special state conventions elected by popular vote.

Farm interests advocated before the House Ways and Means committee a tax program which would raise $1,500,000,000 additional federal revenue, about $600,000,000 more than the tax increase proposed by the administration. Most of the proposed higher taxes would be levied on incomes.

War veterans organizations before the House Veterans committee began a campaign for a federal pension to widows and orphans of World War victims.

TORNADO KILLS THREE

Trenton, Tenn., Jan. 15—(UP)—The body of three-year-old James Rice, found in a debris-strewn field near his home today, brought to ten the number of fatalities in a freak tornado last night. Nine of the victims were members of the Rice family. James had been missing since the storm.

Three others critically injured were expected to die.

The tornado demolished the home of W. P. Rice, killing outright the mother, three daughters, three sons and a neighbor's child.

The dead:

Mrs. W. P. Rice, 45, her daughters, Opal 15, Hazel 12, and Edith 9; her sons, Thomas, 6 months, and Junior, 5; and Elsie McDaniels, 4, her granddaughter. Those fatally injured were W. P. Rice, 45, and a son, Horace, 7.

Maryann Rice, 16, and Mrs. Rice's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lucille Rice, 19, were injured severely.

S. H. Crenshaw, a neighbor of the Rices, saw the twister strike. He summoned an ambulance. The injured were removed to the hospital here. No other deaths or property damage from the storm were reported.

IS MINUS $47

East St. Louis, Ill., Jan. 15—(UP)—Dr. Julius L. Bischoff, prominent dentist and brother-in-law of Congressman Charles Karch of this city, was minus $47 today.

A stranger visited Bischoff's office, showed the doctor a telegram signed with Karch's name, suggesting that he borrow money from Bischoff to come to Washington immediately. Dr. Bischoff gave the man $47.

Later Dr. Bischoff's suspicions were aroused and subsequent investigation proved that Congressman Karch had not sent the message.

NEWS PROVED FATAL

Cleveland, O., Jan. 15—(UP)—For weeks, Mrs. Margaret Ordner, 44, had worried because she had heard no word from her niece, Miss Helen Bischoff. Last night a neighbor summoned her to a telephone.

"I'm a friend of your niece," said a girl's voice over the phone, "I wanted to tell you—Helen is in the hospital."

Mrs. Ordner heard no more. She collapsed. The neighbor helped her a chair and grabbed the telephone.

"Hello—hello," the voice continued, "what I wanted to say was that Helen is in a hospital, working there. She wants me to tell you that she is well and happy."

But Mrs. Ordner never learned the good news. She was dead.

UNIVERSE EXPLODING

Washington, Jan. 15—(AP)—Two distant star-groups, speeding away from the earth at 15,000 miles a second, today gave astronomers possible new evidence that the universe is "exploding."

Discovery of this terrific velocity, the greatest so far found among the giant star-groups or nebulae that seem to be rushing away from the earth, was announced by the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

The discovery was made at the Institution's Mount Wilson observatory, Pasadena, California.

The two new star-groups apparently breaking all previous speed limits of space, are expected to shed additional light on the problem of whether the universe is actually "exploding" or expanding at great speed.

"DUE FOR DOSE"

Gary, Ind., Jan. 15—(UP)—Real winter should arrive about Feb. 1, says Joos Verpland, 88-year-old Civil War veteran, who remembers freak years like this one in 1897 and 1898.

"In those years January was just like it is now," Verpland said.

"Trees budded, robins sang and the grass was green. On the first day of February the big change came. Ripping blizzards alternated with cold waves. Within two weeks there was 22 inches of ice on Lake Michigan."

"We are due for a dose of the same medicine this winter."

Anti-Saloon League Will Plan Campaign

Washington, Jan. 15—(AP)—The board of directors of the Anti-Saloon League was called into executive session this morning to review plans for the 1932 campaign prior to tonight's opening of the league biennial convention.

Dr. F. Scott McBride, General Superintendent, announced the board would not only draw up a general campaign policy for this year and next, but would give special attention to prohibition bills now being considered in Congress.

The general sessions of the convention, which are to last through Monday, will open formally tonight with a dinner. Bishop Thomas Nichols of Detroit, president of the league since 1921, will preside.

TABLEAU

LOCKED arm in arm they cross the bay.
The black boy and the white,
The golden splendor of the day
The sable pride of night.

From lowered blinds the dark folks stare
And here the fair folk talk,
Indignant that these two should dare
In union to walk.
Oblivious to look and word
They pass, and no wonder
That lightning brilliant as a sword
Should blaze the path of thunder.

MENUS FOR SUNDAY

Breakfast

Orange Juice
Egg Omelet Broiled Bacon
Bran Muffins Coffee

Dinner

Baked Chicken Mashed Potatoes
Giblet Gravy
Buttered Cauliflower
Bread Plum Butter
Cabbage and Pineapple Salad
Cocoanut Cake Coffee

Supper

Cheese Sandwiches Tea
Peach Sauce Chocolate Cookies

Baked Chicken

5-pound fowl
1 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon paprika
1-2 cup flour
4 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup water

Carefully wash and clean the fowl and cut into serving pieces. Wash well in cold water. Let drip dry. Sprinkle with salt, paprika and flour. Heat fat in frying pan. Add chicken and brown it quickly. Place in baking pan. Add butter and water to frying pan and boil 1 minute. Pour over chicken. Cover and bake 2 hours in moderately slow oven. Long slow cooking improves the flavor of this chicken.

The giblets can be cleaned, washed and cooked with the chicken in roasting pan. When giblets are made, chicken is removed and giblets and chicken drippings are blended with 3 tablespoons of butter and 4 tablespoons of flour. Add 2 cups of water and 1-4 teaspoon of salt and cook and stir constantly until gravy is desired consistency.

Cocoanut Frosting

(For white or yellow cake)
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons vinegar
1 cup water
2 egg whites, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-4 teaspoon lemon extract
2-3 cup cocoanut
Mix sugar, vinegar and water. Boil gently and without stirring until thread forms when portion is poured from spoon. Pour slowly into egg white. Beat until creamy. Add rest of ingredients. Frost cake.

Masquers to Stage "Jimmy, Be Careful!"

The dates for the presentation of "Jimmy, Be Careful!" Dennison's latest comedy drama, which is to be staged by the Masquers, dramatic club of St. Flannan's church, Harmon, have been definitely set for January 4 and 26. This allows only two weeks for completing preparations, but all parts have been permanently assigned and the progress of early rehearsals is encouraging.

The Masquers are eager to present "Jimmy, Be Careful!" because they are confident it will afford a first class entertainment that will please their host of friends. The excellent moving plot unravels an absorbing story, rich in brightly action and humorous situations. The cast includes a jolly Italian gardener and his lady love, a comical Swedish maid, who flirts with him "just for fun."

Tickets have been placed in the hands of club members and judging by the interest which has already been shown they will have little difficulty in disposing of them.

Regular Meeting of W.C.T.U. Wednesday

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, the president presiding.

It was also the 12th anniversary of the 18th Amendment and the program along those lines was very interesting and helpful.

Meeting opened by all singing the national slogan song, "Observance and Enforcement, Not Repeal."

Singing of the state song, "Illinois."

Salute to the flag was given.

Song, "A Charge to Keep I Have."

Mrs. W. W. Marshall led the devotionals, reading from Ephesians 6-16-18 with a very good explanation of the chapter, followed by the prayers from four members and all repeating the Lord's prayer.

Song, "Our Task."

Rev. B. F. Whitmore gave the address of the 18th Amendment, which was very helpful, showing progress in many ways. We depend too much on leaders and do not live up to the laws ourselves and work harder for enforcement of all laws. Just why? Should our law be so criticized and attacked. We believe it only looked at from the commercial side.

"Roger Babson has said the repeal of the 18th Amendment would mean more unemployment, more criminals and more crime. More terror and anxiety to those obeying the law, and now living up to the 18th Amendment."

The church should stand by the 18th Amendment, society should, and work for "Observance and Enforcement, not Repeal" should be our watch word each day.

Treasurer, Mrs. Bessie Pelton gave her report which was approved as read. Letters had been written by our president and secretary; to our Senators and Representatives and answers received and read at this meeting. Mrs. Pelton gave a very good suggestion of what members can do before the coming primaries.

Motion was made and carried to send for twenty-five dime cards to be used for our W. C. T. U. work.

Collection was taken.

Rev. Whitmore closed with prayer.

A social hour was enjoyed, Mrs. D. C. Leake and Mrs. Belle Morris serving tempting refreshments.

"The Charm School" Last Evening Was A Happy Success

"The Charm School" produced at St. Anne's Hall last evening under the capable direction of Miss Mildred Conley, by the Crusaders, proved a very delightful entertainment and a success in every way.

The play will be given tonight again in St. Anne's Hall at 8 o'clock and those who missed this treat last evening should be all means attend this evening.

The Crusaders are happy in the compliments and applause of their "First Nighters," but appreciation comes easily for work nicely done.

The players moved through the scenes of "The Charm School," with poise and a simplicity of manner that gave unusual reality to the piece.

The action had been artistically conceived and was worked out with pleasing smoothness by a fine group of uncommonly talented young people. The quick tempo of the fun made the ideas of that serious and important business, education, real entertainment.

No one questions the worth of the play, and the ease and rhythm of this presentation approaches the professional.

The young actors all declare it has been "loads of fun" but last night's performance is sufficient testimony that they have done loads of work. They deserve to be commended for their faithfulness, as well as thanked, for the entertainment they gave us.

It is difficult to refrain from individual mention for parts well played and to praise the work.

James Bales, as Austin Bevans, an automobile salesman with "ideas" played with real sincerity of manner and carried the part well. George Curtis, as George Boyd, an expert accountant who seeks charm in vain, draws chuckles from the audience with his natural naivete. Harry Mosher as Jim Simpkins who has never seriously considered spinning, fits gaily about in a mimical way.

Francis Henry, the serious law student doesn't quite approve of the Bevans' ideas but loyally sticks to him.

William Smith plays the difficult role with distinction.

Kathleen Nagle leads her class with delightful and lovable sweetness. The girls, Marcela Burnels, Marie Kaeder, Mary Bennett, the little French girl Anna Marie Hoberg, Josephine May and Virginia Klein, the assured Sally, are very sweet and lovely and carry their scenes with genuine grace.

Wilhelmina Minnihan moved with real dignity as Miss Hayes, the Dean of the Fairview school.

Kathleen Feeley fluttered deliciously through the bewildering complications.

There are clever interpretations and some excellent acting. The players have a fine sense of the stage and use their opportunities with taste.

Charm is rampant.

There was an amusing skit between acts, a dancing lesson. Mary Bennett sways beautifully in a minute. And Virginia Wheeler and Lorraine Giannoni tap in the mode moderne.

Will Celebrate Sixty-third Wedding Anniversary Tues., Jan. 19

ASHTON—Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hunt will celebrate their 63rd wedding anniversary, January 19.

Mrs. Hunt will celebrate her 83rd birthday on March 12 and Mr. Hunt was 86 years old last September.

The anniversary will bring many good wishes and congratulations to this estimable couple.

For many years they made their home on the Hunt farm in Washington Grove where they made their home when they were first married.

Mr. Hunt was born in Lafayette township and Mrs. Hunt near Light-house, where her parents settled in 1842, coming from Ontario, Canada.

Mr. Hunt's father, Millican Hunt, was also a pioneer settler, coming from Vigo county, Indiana, in 1844.

The ceremony uniting their lives was performed by Rev. Hatch of the Lighthouse M. E. church. The Lighthouse M. E. church is among the oldest in the state, being preceded in the Rock River conference of earlier days by the establishing of the Galena M. E. church followed by the Chicago M. E. church.

The name is rather mystifying to strangers. Lighthouse church on the prairies sounds queer. But it came by its name because of the fact that the good Dr. Roe, also a pioneer settler of the district, used often to be called on long trips from home in those early days.

No concrete ribbons aided his return home. The way was long and dark and over mere trails. His good wife used to place a light in the window to guide her husband toward home and the church became known as the Lighthouse church because of the flickering light of the Doctor's home was close by.

The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt was a double wedding, her sister, Maria, becoming the bride of Abijah Reed, cousin of Mr. Hunt. Mr. and Mrs. Abijah Reed were the parents of Bert Reed, local merchant.

The hospitality of the Hunt home is known far and wide and a more interesting couple to chat and visit with cannot be found. Each day finds Mr. Hunt in the business district of Ashton. His interest in current affairs is as keen as ever. His comments are always interesting and often as not witty.

Actively busy about her home, calling on friends and relatives, Mrs. Hunt is a charming hostess. At Christmas time, assisted by her daughters, she prepared a family dinner for those of her children living near, grandchildren and great grandchildren enjoying the day at the home.

Mr. Hunt served as Supervisor from Lafayette township for thirty-two years and was school director for 53 at Prairie Star School. Prairie Star was the first school erected in Ogle county, a boulder now marks the spot where of its first location, apart of the well known pleasure spot for picnickers, Hunt's Grove.

The first instructor of Prairie Star was Miss Chloe Benedict, who in later years married Barton Cartwright and who are the parents of the late Judge James Cartwright, of Illinois Supreme Court.

The second teacher of this school was Miss Judith Rinker, granddaughters of the pioneer settlers of the Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Drummond. Of the history of pioneer days both Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are most interesting in their recollections.

As a small lad Mr. Hunt attended the first Ogle County Fair held then at Byron and he has attended every Ogle County Fair since, the 69th the past fall. He served as state grain inspector during Frank O. Lowden's administration.

His father was among the first to ship over the C. & N. W. railroad, having availed himself of their services before any rates were arranged. During January while the road was under construction Millican Hunt was taking a load of dressed hogs to Chicago via sled.

When he reached Oak Park, a January thaw removed all the sleighing. Construction of the railroad had reached Oak Park and workmen hauled them and instructed them to load their produce upon the flat cars, and the balance of the trip was made via railroad.

Mrs. Hunt was among the few surviving today, who attended the famed Lincoln and Douglas debates. At the Dixon Centennial she was among the guests of honor, as was Mr. Hunt, as early pioneer settlers.

They are the parents of four daughters, Mrs. O. G. Griffith of Ashton; Mrs. Grace McDermott of Seattle, Washington; Mrs. Olive Chadwick, of Atlanta, Georgia; and Miss Eva, who is instructor of Commercial subjects at Sterling schools.

One son, Charles, is at home. They have five grandchildren, and three great grandchildren. The twin daughters of Mrs. Young of Freeport are frequent guests of the Hunt home.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are legion. They live near and far, and many are the men who in former years worked as hands for Mr. Hunt who call at the Hunt home to express their appreciation for the kindness and friendliness shown them in those early days. None are stancher friends. Among these we find J. W. Hoopes, merchant of Chana, Ill., since 1901. With sincere good wishes their hosts of friends congratulate them upon their sixty-third wedding anniversary and pray God's richest blessings upon them in the years to come.

LIEUT. FITZSIMMONS IN DIXON

Lieut. and Mrs. John Fitzsimmons are guests at the home of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Fitzsimmons in Dixon. Lieutenant Fitzsimmons has been stationed at San Diego but has been transferred to Washington, D. C., to the United States Department of Aeronautics. His wedding last June at Seattle, Wash., was a brilliant affair, and his many Dixon friends will be eager to greet him again and meet his charming bride.

WHEN BOYS RUN AWAY.

If they hadn't taken a carrier pigeon to tell their parents what was happening, those two 16-year-old New Jersey school boys who ran away from home to hike to California probably would have got no newspaper attention at all. As it was, though, the oddity of sending a farewell message by pigeon post earned them a few lines in most newspapers.

But it is hard, carrier pigeon or no carrier pigeon, to read about school boys who run away from home without feeling a queer mixture of pity and envy for the runaways. They are, all of them, so very young and innocent—and those are qualities which all of us must pity and envy, in spite of ourselves, to the end of our days.

These particular youngsters were quite true to type. They wrote back, "we are sick of going to school," and they added that when they got to California they would speedily make their way in the world; and they expressed there, as well as it can be expressed, the trusting confidence, the guileless optimism, of eternal youth.

And we who are older, wiser and less confident, feel a trifle sad when we run into such an expression. For we have had to learn how long is the road that reaches from boyhood beyond the horizon; how full of rocky hills and dark valleys it is, and how disappointing its hard-won vistas often are.

We have had to learn that to run away and look for a brighter prospect on the other side of the mountains is simply to hunt disillusionment. Youth still has those things to find out for itself; and in the process it has to bruise its faith and tear most of its optimism to tatters.

But we have to feel a bit envious, too; for the world which one looks at when one is just 16 may be utterly unreal, but it is very beautiful. Never again will it seem as enchanting as it does just then, when any road can lead to a California that never existed, and a hopeful heart can carry one clear to the end. We have lost that outlook, and very likely we are the better for it; but most of us would give all we have and all we are to get it back again.

WHEAT AS FEDERAL AID.

There is a lot of sound good sense in the Senate's plan to put 40,000,000 bushels of Farm Board wheat at the disposal of relief agencies to feed the unemployed.

The government spent good money for this wheat—more money, beyond question, than it would ever be able to get out of it; and so far the presence of all of this wheat in government bins has been more of a curse than a blessing. Meanwhile, there are millions of men who are not going to eat unless someone gives them their food. To give them government wheat is nothing more than ordinary common sense.

Of course, this means that the unemployed will, in a sense, be getting federal aid, which—as practically everybody agrees—is a frightful thing. But it's not quite the same as a direct congressional grant of money, and those 40,000,000 bushels of wheat ought to make a lot of bread. All in all, the plan looks like a very good one.

CAPONE AN EXAMPLE.

The fact that Al Capone is being obliged to stay in jail while his attorneys carry his appeal on its snail-like progress through the higher courts raises a point upon which the layman often wonders. Why isn't that the regular procedure in all criminal cases?

One of the weakest points of American criminal law today is the fact that so long a time often intervenes between conviction and imprisonment. Of appeals there is, sometimes, almost literally no end; and while they are being settled the convicted man usually goes his way, on bond, as free as the air.

It is being handled differently in Capone's case; and it is a little hard for the ordinary citizen to understand why that wouldn't be a good course to follow in all such cases.

What the world needs is the faith of Woodrow Wilson—faith in the moral order of civilization, faith in common people.—Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War under Wilson.

I am far too busy to enjoy money; I have more than I want; and the difference in happiness has been negligible.—George Bernard Shaw.

All nations who owe us are amply capable of meeting their debts without reference to reparations.—Senator Reed of Pennsylvania.

You (people of America) are hero worshippers.—Sir E. Denison Ross, London School of Oriental Studies.

I try to keep my name clean and not get into any scandal.—Charles (Buddy) Rogers, Movie Actor.

I know when to keep my mouth shut.—Major General Smedley D. Butler.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

It surely was a funny sight to see each little Tynymite a tugging at the rope that pulled the monstrous cob of corn. Said Duncy, "Gee! How long is this trip? I am all tired out and it makes me slip. I never have worked harder since the day that I was born."

This made the giant smile. Said he, "It will some day make you big and strong, like me. But, cheer up! There is my shack up there, ahead. Just pull it to the door and then you all can rest a bit until once more you are feeling fit. I will let you play around my house. That is what a house is for."

So, when the corn was dragged up to the door, we Scouty cried, "We are through. Come on, let's go into the shack. We will have a lot of fun." The giant said, "I have to leave, but you will be all right, I believe. I will return and join you before the sinking of the sun."

When once inside the shack the bunch decided they would find some lunch. We will have to climb around this place because everything is so high," said Carpy. "Come lads, follow me. I am as hungry as can be. To climb up on the table is the first thing I will try."

He tried to climb up all alone, but it just made him puff and groan. And then the others boosted him until he reached the top. "Oh, look," he shouted, "This is swell. I have found a great big black ink well. I will write a note to Mister Giant. I won't spill a drop."

"I had better peek right in, I think, and find out if there is some ink." And then a strange thing happened. Scouty shouted, "Mercy me! Poor Carpy made the inkwell flop and ink came flowing from the top. It spilled all over Carpy. He was black as he could be."

(The Tynymites try to help Carpy in the next story.)

NOTE TO BOLSHIEVIKI

On January 15, 1918, the British Labor Party placed itself on record regarding war issues in a message to the Russian people and an appeal to the peoples of Central Europe.

The message followed the refusal of the Germans at the Brest-Litovsk Conference to admit the principle of self-determination of peoples and the doctrine of no annexations.

"The British people must proclaim to Russia and the Central Powers that its aim is identical with Russia's. . . . we see no solution of the evils of militarism except self-determination and no indemnities."

"Peoples of Central Europe, this catastrophe of the human race, this fatal schism in the civilized world, can only be ended by the defeat of militarism on both sides and by the victory on both sides of moral and intellectual fair dealing."

THAT business concerns that are selling something of everything, but not enough of anything should turn their attention to better advertising. The right kind of advertising stimulates business.

Truthful, persistent advertising gets the attention of the readers, and sets their thoughts moving in the direction of the merchandise or service advertised in a way that brings results.

Advertising holds customers, makes new ones, and turns fussy customers into satisfied customers.

The modern business concern knows that good advertising is worthy of the thoughts of all the thoughtful people and they read them item by item, because they show the way to greater savings.

People realize that the business concerns whose names they find in the advertising columns have left nothing undone to carry in stock the finest merchandise that is possible to be produced for the price asked.

The scheme of life is so arranged that some have merchandise and need cash while others have cash and need merchandise. Advertising provides the opportunity for them to meet.

The motive power of any business is truthful advertising. It is the great service that brings together the buyer and the seller for their mutual benefit.

Advertising cultivates the habit of steady saving and has started millions of people on the road to financial freedom.

RADIO RIALTO

OFFICIALS ON AIR

Washington — Cabinet members, Senators, Representatives and other high government officials will be heard in the new National Radio Forum to be inaugurated over an extensive National Broadcasting Company network Monday, 9 P. M. CST.

The series, which will be heard in New York over WJAF, was arranged by the Washington Star. Oliver Owen Kuhn, managing editor of the Star, will be master of ceremonies for each broadcast. The broadcasts will originate in the NBC Washington studios.

Details of the inaugural program, which is expected to be unusually elaborate, are being arranged. Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, will be among the earlier speakers in the series, appearing on the second program to be broadcast Monday, Jan. 25. The program will be heard in the Midwest through WENR and WOC.

COMPTON NEWS

By Leslie G. Archer

Compton—The local post of the American Legion, Brooklyn No. 57, has just received their bronze plaque for their 100 per cent membership enrollment from the state headquarters at Bloomington. This is the first time since the post was organized that this achievement has been attained.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Richardson had as their Sunday dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kohl and mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Kohl of Marselles, Mr. and Mrs. John Erbes of West Brooklyn and mother, Mrs. Christiana Erbes of Mendota, Mr. and Mrs. George Schnucke and daughter Miss Della, of West Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bartch and son Arlo of Forrest Park, visited over Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Gilmore.

Mrs. Adeline Bauer has her home nearly completed, after the destruction by fire several weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Cook and son have arrived at their home here after spending several days with friends at Gary, Ind.

The Compton Athletic club will play the Amboy Rexalls in a return game of basketball at the high school gym on Thursday evening, January 29th. A first and second team game will be played.

Compton Hospital Notes
George Vincent was removed from the local hospital last Saturday to his home north of West Brooklyn.

ten days following an appendicitis operation.

Miss Helen Gehant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gehant of West Brooklyn underwent a dangerous operation Wednesday of the past week. Miss Gehant is recovering exceptionally well.

Miss Sadie Danekas, who has been a patient at the local hospital, is in a critical condition at her home near Rochelle.

Mrs. Jess Parsley of Savanna is a patient at the local hospital.

Mr. Philip of Ft. Wayne, Ind., has been at the local hospital during the past week in connection with X-ray work.

Mrs. George Krum has left the hospital for her home, after undergoing a serious operation a few days ago.

Dr. C. G. Pool attended the Ogle County Medical meeting at Rochelle Thursday evening.

RUTH REFUSES SALARY CUT OF $10,000 A YEAR

Home Run King Sends Contract Back: He Wants Same Pay

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Babe Ruth has received a one year contract from the New York Yankees calling for $70,000, a reduction of $10,000 from his salary of the last two years, and promptly sent it back unsigned. He said he would accept a two year contract for that sum.

Babe was found in his Riverside drive apartment shortly after Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, had announced the terms he was offering the home run king for 1932. Ruth had just received the contract in the morning mail.

"I think I'm worth the other $10,000," the Babe said as he bustled around collecting his golf clubs for a day on the links, "and I'm sending the contract back."

"I think they're carrying this cutting business too far and making a joke of it."

Babe was asked what he would consider as a fair contract.

"Well, I think $70,000 for two years would be all right," he said.

He said he did not plan to communicate with Colonel Ruppert and that the next move was up to the Yankee owner. He left the inference that a one year contract for $80,000 would be all right.

Informed of Ruth's demand, Colonel Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, said:

"I do not think we can do better than a one-year contract at $70,000. I haven't talked with Ruth at all as yet. We will discuss the matter and I am sure we can reach an agreement quickly. We have never had much trouble doing so before."

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS Sports Parade

BY HENRY MCLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Jan. 15.—(UP)—A very smart baby indeed is Babe Ruth. So smart a baby, in fact, he'll probably collect $80,000 in these days when a nickel looks like a man-hole cover.

You know what the economists say about cycles. And I ain't talking about bi-cycles, tri-cycles, or even ice-cycles. So by this time your must know I'm talking about plain, garden variety, Roger Babson, Stuart Chase, Irving Fisher, chart-the-wall cycles.

Now what I started to say was that Babe Ruth's publicity runs in cycles. The main cycle comes in the baseball season when the man's ability to knock the ball over into M. S. Harrison's backyard keeps him on the front pages. Don't ever think that during the rest of the year Babe Ruth is lying up there in that 16-room apartment of his knitting Christmas ties. No ma! He and his press agent (whose name we won't use lest we offend Mister Christy Walsh) are eternally figuring up, as follows:

"Well, what'll we do this week? Do you want to go hunting or would you rather sprain your ankle? Now Babe, you don't have to go through any of these nerve-racking things if you don't want to. There's a guy around today who wants you to start a hat shop. And I've got it figured out where you can make a hole-in-one at Winged Foot. But maybe right at this moment, it would be a swell idea for you to return unassigned that contract the Yankees offered you. Watta ya think?"

"Now Christy," replies the Babe, "I ain't paying you to ask me questions. But here you come around tantalizing me. You know I'd rather send back contracts than eat, much less sprain my ankle."

"Okay Babe, we'll send that contract calling for $70,000 back. You seal up the envelope, while I phone the newspaper boys—I said Murray Hill 2-0400, operator—lawdy, Babe, what a face you make licking a stamp."

Now if this doesn't let you in on how Ruth's technique in awakening the daily press, let us go back a week or two ago when Mister Ruth was getting all primed up to receive a Yankee contract.

By some strange psychic means all the sports editors and all the picture editors east of the Great Divide learned that the Babe was

Couldn't Eat Couldn't Sleep for Three Years

Trained Nurse Says Diet Is Now Forgotten—Sleeps Like a Child—Has New Strength and Vitality.

Don't go on year in and year out feeling that there is no hope, that you will never be able to enjoy a good night's rest or eat a full meal of what you like again, because this week, run-down condition may be the result of neglect of Constipation, Indigestion, Gas, Heart Pains, Torpid Liver, Pale, Weak, Impoverished Blood, Headaches, Rheumatism, Neuritis or Lumbago of a functional character, resulting in much pain and suffering. This is Nature's Warning that the Human Machine is out of order. You should act at once to correct these conditions, because further delay may lead to loss of work and other serious consequences.

What you need is a medicine that will go right to the source of these troubles, begin fighting these conditions, and keep the Toxic Poisons from the Blood Stream and Vital Organs, thus enabling Nature to assert itself and start you on the road to glorious health and happiness.

Professional people and prominent persons in every walk of life are publicly praising the New Master Medicine, Wewo, because of the marvelous results and the amazing speed with which it begins to combat their ailments. Read the true statement of this well-known trained nurse, Miss Fay Sellers, 113 S. Kansas Ave., Topeka, Kan.—"I couldn't eat or sleep—rest seemed impossible. A very light diet was necessary and I had to give up coffee altogether. Then I took Wewo. In only 4 months, I have regained my strength and vitality, and sleep as soundly as a child. My diet is forgotten. Wewo is the greatest health builder I know."

Each ingredient of the New Master Medicine, Wewo, has long been recognized by Scientific and Medical authorities, but it remained for the distributors of Wewo, after years of research in their laboratories, to gather the 23 active ingredients from all over the World into one revitalizing, health-giving medicine which is now available to all sufferers.

Can you afford to delay longer, and miss the wonderful benefits of Wewo? Get a bottle today. Take it, and feel the joy of living again. Look into the mirror and your face will testify to the health and energy-giving results of Wewo. You'll feel years younger. Get Wewo under our Iron-Clad Money-Back Guarantee. If you are not completely satisfied, return the empty bottle and your money will be refunded. Ask for Wewo today. Recommended and guaranteed by the FORD-HOPKINS DRUG STORE, 123 First St.

going to make a personal appearance in trunks and shorts in Artie McGovern's gymnasium. Need I say the Babe made a personal appearance in trunk and shorts in Artie E. McGovern's gymnasium? The only thing wrong with McGovern's gymnasium that day and subsequent days was that you almost had to pay two bits admission to get in. As a result the sports pages of the metropolitan press looked, during the next week, like this:

Babe Ruth on a treadmill.
Babe Ruth on a punching bag.
Babe Ruth on the Indian clubs.
Babe Ruth with shoes on.
Babe Ruth showing his teeth.
Babe Ruth on the horizontal bars.
Babe Ruth on the Poughkeepsie regatta.
Babe Ruth on my nerves.
Now this contract business, which opened yesterday, will last until time for the Babe to report to training camp. And then we'll have:
Babe Ruth in rubber shirt.
Babe Ruth swatting pill.
Babe Ruth presenting five bucks to Salvation Army.
Babe Ruth autographs sick man's chest.
Babe Ruth gives full-fledged saxophone to cripple boy.
Babe Ruth—thirty, as we say in the newspaper business. And if that doesn't step me, thirty-five.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—C. V. Whitney's Angry, an 80-and-a-fraction-to-1 shot, outran a field of 13 in the six-furlong Inaugural Handicap at Miami and refunded $162.70 for a $2 win ticket.

Five Years Ago Today—Broadway Jones, from Colonel E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour Stock Farm, won the fourth running of the A. B. Dade Memorial Handicap at Fair Grounds and his fifth straight triumph. Under 128 pounds on a slow track, Broadway Jones ran the mile in 1:41 3-5 to win by a nose over Banton.

Ten Years Ago Today—Billy Barton of the Gold Apple Stables scored a victory by a length over Dr. Clark in the $3650 American Club Handicap at a mile and an eighth, an Oriental Park feature.

Golfers Shoot Fine Scores In Tourney

Agua Caliente, Jan. 15.—(UP)—Leo Diegel served notice that he contemplated saving the Agua Caliente $15,000 open championship for Baja California as it passed the half-way mark today.

Admittedly playing the best game of a title-bedecked career, he posted a course record at 68 yesterday with 26 holes, six under par. Right behind him were Charles (Beau) Guest of Deal, N. J., who cracked out a 69 for a total of 140, and Gene Sarazen of New York, who paced par, step for step, to take third place at 142.

Harry Cooper of Chicago and Fred Morrison, Culver City, California, muddier who led after the first eighteen holes, were close to the top with 143. Light Horse Harry had a 71 on the second round. Morrison couldn't locate the greens with his irons and ended up with a 74 for the round.

Diegel was not the only 68 yesterday. Paul Runyon of White Plains, N. Y., one of the rising generation, surprised everyone, including himself, with two nine cards of 34. "Ed with Runyon at 144 was Walter Hagen, who missed a long putt by inches and took 70.

Sixty-two professionals and all amateurs will continue through tomorrow's final round.

DIXON AMATEUR BOXERS IN GOOD BOUTS LAST EVE

Boys Made Fine Showing In Sterling Ring Show

Several Dixon boxing fans went to Sterling last evening and witnessed the fine card of boxing bouts at the Coliseum in which five local boxers from the Betow gymnasium of this city participated and made a very creditable showing with one exception. Four knockouts furnished excitement for the fans, three of these being scored by the local boxers.

In the first event, Jack Johnson and Tony McGinnis of Kewanee went three fast rounds with Johnson taking the decision in the 126 pound class.

The second bout went to Paul Ardinini of Dixon who knocked out Marvin Miller of New Bedford in the first round. This was Ardinini's first appearance and he floored his opponent in the first 30 seconds of boxing and sent over the knockout blow at the end of two minutes of action in the 148 pound division.

George Carlson of Dixon who was matched to meet Raymond Alfaro of Kewanee in the 116 pound event, met Ray Kazma of Kewanee who was substituted. The Kewaneean out-weighted Carlson 13 pounds, but the local lad exchanged punches until the third round when he won on a technical knockout.

Ferri Bellini of Dixon in the 126 pound division, stepped into the ring for his first appearance against Batling Fritz of Sterling and won the decision.

Eddie Carlson of the local crew staged a remarkable comeback in the second round after being knocked down for the count of 9 in the opening round, to knock out John Flynn of Sterling in the 135 pound class.

Steve Broto of Kewanee, 156, won from John Mondlock, Dixon, 146, on a technical knockout in the first round when Mondlock's seconds tossed the towel in the ring and halted the one sided battle.

In the final bout of the evening, Chuck Adams, 126, of Madden, won a decision from Joey Rozina, 126, of Kewanee in three rounds. Both boxers showed plenty of speed and action with a generous sprinkling of gore.

LEVINSKY AND HAMAS TO GET OPPORTUNITIES

Two Rising Boxers to Be In Crucial Engagements This Evening

Chicago, Jan. 15.—(AP)—How much dynamite there is in King Levinsky's right hand will be determined tonight at the Chicago Stadium.

The King's biggest test will be supplied in a ten round battle with Paulino Uzcudun, whose cast iron features and sturdy frame have withstood the blasts of virtually every real puncher in the boxing business, without so much as a knock-down. If Levinsky, whose most recent important achievement was a 10-round decision over Tommy Loughran, whom he knocked down three times, can even get the durable Basque off his feet, the most doubting will believe he can punch.

Levinsky can't box a lick, and his campaign of battle will be the same as usual—climb into the ring and start swinging with his right. The plan has worked so well lately that the former Maxwell Street bash-monger's rise to prominence among the heavyweights has been amazing. Before beating Loughran, he lost a decision to Primo Camera, and it was so close that a large number of Chicago fans still think Levinsky won.

Basque Favored Against the King's wild, but ever busy right, Paulino will present his crablike defense, ceaseless body attack and apparently limitless endurance, and what little waging there has been, has been done at 8 to 5 and 7 to 5 that the Basque will win the decision. Paulino will weigh around 198 pounds, and Levinsky will scale about four pounds less.

The advance sale indicates that as many as 15,000 will watch Levinsky's efforts to un-end Paulino, with viewing four bouts in the National Boxing Association's tournament to select a successor to Maxie Rosenbloom as world champion of the light-weights.

In the elimination series, Dave Maier, Milwaukee southpaw, will meet Abie Bain of Newark, N. J. in a 10-round bout, and Baxter Calmes of Wichita, Kans., and Bob Olin of New York are down for the same distance. George Nichols, Buffalo, N. Y., another southpaw, will tackle Charley Belanger of Canada, in a third ten-rounder and Yale Okun of New York and Tony Canela of Tampa, Fla., will meet in an eight round test.

HAMAS GETS CHANCE

New York, Jan. 15.—(AP)—A ten round bout with Tommy Loughran, in Madison Square Garden tonight gives Steve Hamas, all-around athlete at Penn State a few years ago, his first chance to crash through into the top flight of American heavyweights.

The Passaic, N. J., youngster, whose brief professional career of 26 bouts has resulted in 26 victories, 23 of them by knock-outs, rules the short-ender in the betting at 8 to 5. A month ago Loughran would have been favored at 100 to 1 or to any odd you liked but his stock has taken a sharp drop since the

SPECIAL SESSION OF ASSEMBLY TO TRIM SALARIES

The Governor Issues Call Urged By Representative Devine

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 15.—(UP)—Advisability of the calling of a state constitutional convention and the reduction of salaries for state and county and municipal officers will be considered by a second special session of the Illinois General Assembly which will convene here on Tuesday.

Call for the second special session was issued late yesterday by Governor Louis L. Emmerson. It will meet concurrently with the one now in session, and which is seeking to enact laws to give Cook county financial relief.

Lead By Devine Representative John Devine, Democrat, Dixon, was the first to suggest the calling of a special session of the legislature soon after the first session had convened last November. He was a member of a committee of three which called upon Emmerson and requested that the second session be called. Other members of the committee were Representatives Frank McCarthy, Elgin and R. V. Libonati, Chicago, both Republicans.

In his call for the session Emmerson pointed out that the question of salaries must be passed upon soon after the slash is to apply to those officers who are to be elected during this year and the early part of 1933. Under the Constitution, the salaries of officers can not be changed during the terms for which they are elected.

If the session should adopt a resolution calling for a Constitutional Convention, the proposition can be submitted to a vote of the people at the general election next November. Enabling legislation, setting up the machinery for the convention and providing for payment of its expenses, would have to be acted upon at the regular session of the General Assembly in 1933.

Expect Big Saving In submitting his suggestion for salary reductions to the House of Representatives early in the present special session, Representative Devine declared that it would be possible to effect a saving of $1,000,000 to the state and several millions of dollars for counties throughout the state by slashing the pay of officers.

Among bills introduced at the present special session dealing with salary cuts are several which would reduce the pay of all elected officers ten per cent and would slash the salary of members of the General Assembly from $2,500 to $2,000 for each term.

These bills were not acted upon by the first session because the call was not broad enough to admit them. It is probable that they will be introduced at the second special session along with numerous other reduction measures. Subjects to be taken up at the second session are:

Subjects to be Considered ONE. To enact laws and to amend, alter or repeal any existing law in respect to the salary or compensation fixed by law for those officers, county, and other municipal officers to be elected or appointed prior to July 1, 1933, to hold for a definite term and also in relation to the abolishment of such officers.

TWO. To provide for the submission to the electors of the state of Illinois of the question of calling a

NO CUT ON TICKETS Chicago, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Depression or no depression, your ticket to American League baseball games will cost just as much next season as last.

William Harridge, President of the American League, today said there would be no cut in prices for at least two reasons.

One is that the owners do not feel called upon to lower the admission price, since they didn't raise it during boom times.

"Any suggestions that admission prices be lowered because of prevailing conditions overlook the fact that in the boom period baseball made no attempt to take advantage of easy money," Harridge declared today.

MUNN TO GET TROPHY Chicago, Jan. 15.—(AP)—Arance Munn, Minnesota's All - America guard, will receive the Chicago Tribune's "most valuable football player" trophy tomorrow night. The presentation will be made by Harvey T. Woodruff between halves of the Indiana-Minnesota Big Ten Basketball game at Minneapolis.

DEMOCRACY FED AT BIG VICTORY DINNER LAST EVE

Following Which The Party Goes Seeking $1,500,000

By The Associated Press Democracy arisen from a "victory" dinner that had a nation for its banquet hall, pushed its quest today for the $1,500,000 fund to pay its debts and finance its campaign for votes at the November polls.

Democracy's voices—the Roosevelt, Snoues and Smiths among a host of other leaders—rang with prophecies of Democratic success and with condemnation of the conduct of national affairs under the present Republican administration.

At Chicago Jounet Shouse, Chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Democratic party, warned Democrats against the danger of over-confidence.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York was the principal speaker at New York City. He urged that Democrats conduct a campaign free from prejudice, and he deplored the tendency to "blame all our present troubles on the President."

Shortly before the New York dinner Gov. Roosevelt was endorsed as the party's candidate for President by the Resolutions committee of the North Dakota State convention. His only comment was "well, well."

Smith Gets Ovation Another party leader, former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, was given an ovation as he addressed New England Democrats at Boston. Like Gov. Roosevelt, he avoided committing himself on the question of whether he would be a candidate for the presidential nomination. At the end of his speech there came a voice which said "the party is going to draft you." This was greeted with loud cheers. Mr. Smith stood as though about to reply, changed his mind and sat down.

Speaking at Chicago on the same program as Shouse, Melvin Traylor, a Chicago banker who has been mentioned as a presidential possibility, urged the party to campaign on a short platform, frugal promises and many results.

Two Democratic Senators—Lewis of Illinois and Bulkley of Ohio—were victory dinner speakers at Columbus, Ohio. Each criticized the Republican administration.

Governor George H. Dern of Utah told the victory diners at Helena, Mont., that Americans have "awakened to the fact that they have been fooled and betrayed by the colossal stupidity and inaptitude of smug Republican leaders."

Mrs. Neale Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, told Tammy Fla. Democrats the Republican party had "fallen down on its campaign promises and had failed to give relief in a national emergency."

Prolonged cheering followed the statement at the Atlanta, Ga., dinner that the nation might be "rescued from the morass by a Demo-

Good Thoughts for Good People

The real test of character is joy. For what you rejoice in, that you love.

For what you love, that you are like.

Happiness grows at your own fire-side and is not to be picked in any stranger's garden.

All one's life is music, if one touches notes rightly and in time.

Happiness is neither within us nor without us; it is the union of ourselves with God.

Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice, ye righteous; and shout for joy all ye that are upright in heart.

The Scriptures abound in the note of joyousness, of joy springing from the depths of true worship. Faith in God, especially the faith based upon understanding, brings joy, the deep-seated gladness which is changeless.

Says It Brought Relief From Constipation

"I want to take this unsolicited means to tell you what ALL-BRAN has done for me.

"I am on the road all the time, and this has a tendency to constipate me, or any one who travels all the time. I used to suffer a great deal from constipation, until some one told me about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since I have been eating this cereal, I have been cured of constipation. I heartily endorse it to any one suffering as I did."—Mr. B. F. Pollard, Marion, N. C.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN provides both. At the same time, it supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Being a natural corrective ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming.

How much better than risking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation—serious cases, with every meal. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FEAR

The American psychologist, Watson, maintains that a child at birth is instinctively afraid of but two things. It fears loud noises and the sudden loss of support, that is, falling.

It is interesting to speculate why loud noises and falling should be instinctive fears.

Perhaps it is because since man's earliest experiences, noise and falling represented two ever-present dangers and the reactions thereto were of a vitally protective nature.

As civilization grew the varieties of fears to which man became subject increased.

H. G. Wells aptly observes, "In civilized life the tendency is constant to attach fears to states of mind rather than to possible injury to the body."

"People come to accept discomfort, privation and even death in preference to social disgrace, unfavorable publicity, scandal, loss of prestige, or being out of fashion."

Fear may be said to be the parent of caution and of reflection. In reverse, improper reflection may engender fear.

James, the psychologist, years ago propounded an interesting hypothesis as to the origin of fear and fear behavior.

He maintained that in the case of "a man who runs away because he is afraid" this statement expressing the relationship between cause and effect is in improper order.

He contended, contrary to common belief, that the man does not run away because he fears, but rather that he fears because he runs away.

It should therefore be possible, according to this theory, to eliminate fear by training men to behave in certain patterns. Their physical behavior would cause them to be fearless.

Undoubtedly a good deal of military training is directed to this end.

Recent studies, however, particularly those of Cannon, tend to cast doubt upon the validity of James' hypothesis.

compressible. The lowest part of the atmosphere, pressed down from above, is relatively dense. With increased altitude the density falls off so rapidly that at a height of three and a half miles the air is only about half as dense as at sea level. Above about five miles it is too rare for breathing; hence aerial travelers who go higher must carry a supply of oxygen with them. At the 50-mile level the atmosphere is, according to calculation, less than one 75-thousandth as dense as at sea level, and at the 300-mile level, about one two-millionth as dense. This is a pretty good vacuum, though far better are produced nowadays in certain industrial operations. Even at an altitude of 2000 miles a well known English authority, Dr. J. H. Jeans, calculates that there are still something like 300,000 molecules of atmospheric gases per cubic centimeter—as compared with 30,000,000,000,000,000,000 in the same volume of air near the earth's surface.

Up to heights of 20 miles or so, the atmosphere has been explored by means of small balloons carrying no human passengers, but a small set of self-registering instruments. At greater heights it is studied by observations of the aurora "northern lights" shooting stars and their trails, various optical phenomena, the transmission of radio signals, and in other ways.

Since the year 1902 it has been known that the atmosphere is divided into at least two layers, or shells, having different characteristics. At the bottom is a layer called the "troposphere" (literally, "turning sphere"), in which the air has upward and downward movements and changes of temperature associated therewith, and which enjoys a monopoly of storms, ordinary clouds, rain, snow and the other manifestations that are generally classified as "weather." This layer has an average depth of between six and seven miles. Above it lies a region called the "stratosphere" (the "spread-out sphere") where the winds move only horizontally, and therefore, as the name implies, occur in layers. This region extends to an unknown height.

In the troposphere the temperature of the air decreases rapidly with the increase in height; so that, for example, aeronaus always encounter frigid weather a few miles above the earth. This fall in temperature goes on until, at the top of the troposphere, the thermometer reads 60 to 70 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, in middle latitudes and much lower over the equatorial regions. In the stratosphere there is no such vertical change in temperature—at least as far up as the measurements have been made.

NEW FRENCH CABINET
Paris, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Pierre Laval, one of the youngest of French Premiers, began his preparations for the coming international conferences today with a new cabinet of youth.

The new cabinet, the eighty-seventh under the third republic, was approved by President Paul Doumer last night. In place of the veteran Aristide Briand, Foreign Minister for the last six years and called the "Peacemaker of Europe," M. Laval himself will occupy the Foreign Office as well as the Premiership.

For Minister of War to succeed the late Andre Maginot, the premier selected his former mentor, Andre Tardieu, noted French journalist and disciple of the late M. Clemenceau, Tiger of France.

Speaking of the Weather—

by CHARLES TALMAN of the U.S. Weather Bureau

Although nearly the whole surface of the globe, including both poles, has now been reached by explorers, there are still three terrestrial regions in which a great deal of exploring remains to be done. One of these is the interior of the globe, another the bottom of the ocean, and a third the upper levels of the atmosphere.

The greatest distance any human being has yet been able to put between himself and his native planet is less than 10 miles, and was less than eight miles before Professor A. Picard made his remarkable ascent last May.

The atmosphere is, however, supposed to extend upward some thousands of miles—nobody knows just how far. Through the greater part of its vertical extent it contains very little matter.

Air, like all the gasses, is highly

"Pretty Boy" Floyd In Bank Robbery

Castle, Okla., Jan. 15 —(AP)—Three machine gun robbers, one identified as Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, notorious Oklahoma outlaw, looted the Castle State Bank of $2,600 today.

Two bank officials and two customers were used as shields by the robbers as they escaped in an automobile from which two machine guns were trained. The captives were released unharmed near the edge of town. They were compelled to stand on the running board of the car.

Bank officials identified a photograph of Floyd as that of the leader in the holdup. The desperado is credited with scores of robberies and 11 killings, among them the murder of a policeman at Bowling Green, Ohio.

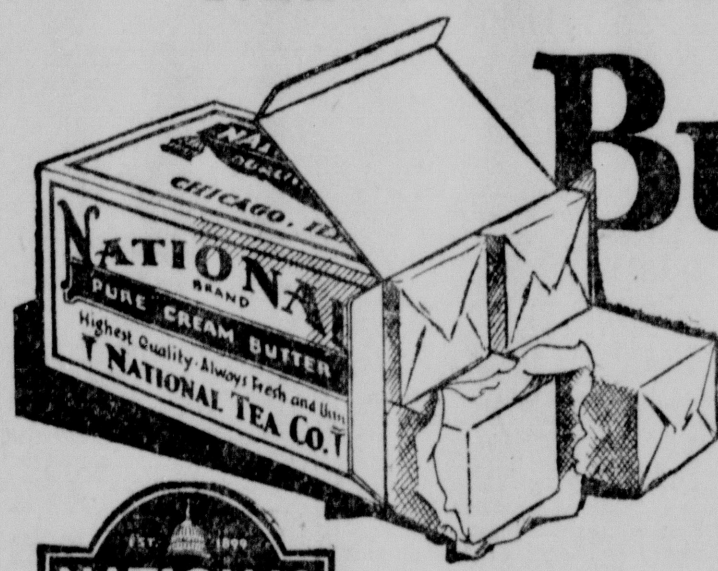

Wright Field at Dayton, Ohio, and Patterson Field adjoining comprise the largest airfield in the world, covering more than 5,000 acres.

Net salmon fishing on the coasts of the Dundee district, Scotland, this year experienced the most successful season in 50 years.

WILSON DIGESTS REPORT MADE ON MOONEY'S TRIAL

Outlines Unaccepted Report To Wickersham Commission

(Herewith is the fourth and last of the series by Lyle C. Wilson, United Press staff correspondent, on the Mooney-Billings documents submitted recently to the Senate.)

BY LYLE C. WILSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Jan. 15 — (UP) — Three investigations of the Wickersham Commission have charged former District Attorney Charles M. Fickert of San Francisco with gross violation of professional ethics in his conduct of the trial at which Thomas J. Mooney was convicted on charges of bombing San Francisco's 1916 Preparedness Day parade. Fickert did not conduct the prosecution of Warren K. Billings, who also was convicted.

This charge is made in the Mooney-Billings report which the Wickersham Commission refused to receive on the grounds that the inquiry was outside its province. The complaint against Fickert is accompanied with a detailed analysis of the prosecution's conduct and the character of its evidence and its witnesses. With respect to the credibility of the witnesses presented by the prosecution, the report says:

"The conduct of the District Attorney was a clear—and in its consequences—a gross violation of the standards of professional ethics approved and declared by the American Bar Association."

Zachariah Chafee, Jr., Walter H. Pollak, and Carl S. Stern, the commission investigators, have summarized in their report the character of witnesses produced by the prosecution. The three emphasize that the events all took place in broad daylight and on crowded streets—implying thereby that there must have been available witnesses of greater credibility. Of the key witnesses they say:

Key Witness a "Liar"
John McDonald was "diseased and a psychopathic liar." Crowley was diseased. Frank C. Oxman "testified falsely" and sought to induce Ed Rigall to do likewise.

Mrs. Nelli Edau, a "victim of hallucinations whose testimony was demonstrably false." Sadie Edau, her daughter, whose "testimony falls" with that of Mrs. Edau. The testimony of Estelle Smith, described as a prostitute who once had been indicted for murder, and of John McDonald, the report says, was "modified as to the vital issue of time" between the grand jury proceedings and the Billings trial. The report asserts that Oxman's testimony was introduced after enlarged photographs of the Elers building during the parade had shown Mooney and his wife to have been there. The Elers building is three quarters of a mile from Steuart and Market streets where the explosion took place at 2:00 P. M. Had it been possible for Mooney to have reached there at all, he would have had to travel rapidly. Oxman swore he saw him arrive in a taxicab. The report cites variation in testimony.

"Prosecutor Liable"
"We are unable to believe," the report says, "that such changes in the testimony of witnesses of such character could have been merely fortuitous, and we cannot absolve the prosecuting officials from liability therefore."

Of Louis Rominger, a witness in the Billings case, the report says that he at first refused to identify the defendant and adds that Assistant District Attorney Brennen must have known Rominger had never seen Billings before.

The report contains the statement that the prosecution "had actual knowledge of Estelle Smith's untrustworthiness" and that there are "concrete indications the prosecution knew of their (the Edau's) unreliability before they were used as witnesses." Asserting that Fickert knew the Edau's stories were false, the report says:

"It is submitted that the action of the District Attorney in allowing the Edaus to testify, after such a showing of their irresponsibility, is inconsistent with his duty to refrain from offering testimony of whose falsity he was aware."

The three investigators have concluded that the state of California obtained convictions in the cases by a combination of perjury, concealed evidence and violations of the state laws.

On the strength of the publicity obtained by publication of the report—long suppressed by the Wickersham Commission—friends of Mooney and Billings hope to be able to obtain their release from prison.

Their Conclusions

The investigators' conclusions in full were as follows:
(1) There was never any scientific attempt made by either the police or prosecution to discover the perpetrators of the crime. The investigation was in reality turned over to a private detective who used his position to cause the arrest of the defendant. The police investigation was reduced to a hunt for evidence to convict the arrested defendants.

(2) There were flagrant violations of the statutory law of California by both police and the prosecution in the manner in which the defendants were arrested and held incommunicado, and in the subsequent searches of their homes to procure evidence against them.

(3) After the arrest of the defendants, witnesses were brought to the jail to "identify" them, and their "identifications" were accepted by the police and the prosecution despite the fact that these witnesses were never required to pick the defendants out of a line-up, or to demonstrate their accuracy by any other test.

(4) Immediately after the arrests of the defendants there commenced a deliberate attempt to arouse public prejudice against them by a series of almost daily interviews given to the press by prosecuting officials.

(5) Witnesses were produced at the trials with information in the hands of the prosecution that seriously challenged the credibility of the witnesses, but this information was deliberately concealed.

(6) Witnesses were permitted to testify at the trial despite such knowledge in the possession of the prosecution of prior contradictory stories told by these witnesses as to make their production a vouching for perjured testimony.

(7) Witnesses were coached in their testimony to a degree that approximated subornation of perjury. There is a strong inference that some of this coaching was done by prosecuting officials, and other evidence points to the knowledge by the prosecuting officials that such coaching was being practiced on other witnesses.

(8) The prejudice against the defendants, stimulated by newspaper publicity, was further appealed to at the trials by unfair and intemperate arguments to the jury in the opening and closing statements of the prosecuting attorneys.

(9) After the trials, the disclosures casting doubt on the justice of the convictions were minimized and every attempt made to defeat the liberation of the defendants by a campaign of misrepresentation and propaganda carried on by the officials who had prosecuted them.

Bright Spots In World Of Business

BY UNITED PRESS

New York, Jan. 15.—New models received warm reception at the automobile show and executives predicted 1932 will show increased business.

Washington.—Consumption of cotton in the United States for the five months ended Dec. 31 totalled 2,195,835 bales, compared with 2,010,153 bales in the corresponding period of 1930.

New York.—December automobile production in the United States and Canada amounted to 120,107 cars and trucks, against 70,114 units in November, according to the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Youngstown, O.—Carnegie Steel Company operations were increased from 35 to nearly 40 per cent of capacity at local plant.

New York.—General Motors Corporation has ordered 100,000 tons of pig iron for 1932 needs from Pick-

ands, Mather & Company, Hanna

Purnace Company, subsidiaries of National Steel Corporation and Donner Steel Company, subsidiary of Republic Steel Corporation, it was announced.

New York.—American Telephone & Telegraph Company earned its $9 annual dividend by a small margin in 1931, Walter S. Gifford, president, said in a letter to the stockholders. Louisville, Ky. — Louisville Gas & Electric Company reported net income for the year ended Nov. 30, 1931 was $5,984,341 against $5,381,279 in the preceding year.

Chicago.—Northern States Power Company reported for the year ended Nov. 30, net income of $17,552,420 against $16,634,647 in the preceding year.

GAS FUMES CAUSE BLAST.

Columbia, Ill., Jan. 14.—(UP)—Spontaneous combustion of gasoline fumes—not bombs—caused the two explosions at a cleaning and dyeing plant here early today, according to Philip Ackerman, proprietor.

Ackerman denied that bombs had been placed in the plant, or any labor troubles had occurred that at first were believed to have caused planting of bombs.

Gasoline soaked clothes had been left in a cleaning machine overnight he said. Steam had been left on in a nearby washer, and he believed the explosion was from this source of heat.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon even, continuous flow . . . a little at a time . . . so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously, "a little at a time."

YOU CAN BANK ON THE SAME EXQUISITE FLAVOR IN EVERY POUND OF HILLS BROS COFFEE

MEAL AFTER MEAL—day after day—even year after year, you'll get the same pleasure from Hills Bros. Coffee. It never varies in flavor! Here is the reason:

Instead of bulk-roasting . . . the common practice . . . Hills Bros. use their patented Controlled Roasting process. The blend flows through the roasters in an even, continuous stream . . . a little at a time.

The roast that results can't be equalled for accuracy! No berry is underdone nor overdone—all are roasted to the same perfect degree . . . with a marvelous, unvarying flavor. It is a flavor no other coffee can have, because Hills Bros. patented the process.

Variation prevented by Controlled Roasting—Hills Bros' patented process

"A little at a time"—instead of in bulk—permits uniform roasting all the time

Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale! The vacuum process of packing coffee is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness—the air is removed from the can and kept out. It was originated by Hills Bros. over thirty years ago. There is no magic about a vacuum can—it will not make poor coffee good, but it will keep good coffee fresh.

Order Hills Bros. Coffee by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

$40,000,000,000 PAUPER

The Story of Chicago, America's Second City, And Its Financial Straits.

(EDITOR'S NOTE. Chicago is not alone in its financial muddle. A score of major American cities are drifting toward the same bog. The Chicago crisis may be duplicated all over the country. This concluding installment of a series of stories about Chicago's plight tells how and why taxpayers went on "strike," precipitating the city into its struggle against bankruptcy.)

By RAY BLACK
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
(Copyright, 1932, by United Press.)
Chicago, Jan. 15.—(UPI)—A taxpayer's revolt brought Chicago to the brink of bankruptcy.

"Taxes are too high; assessments are unfair," home owners, shopkeepers, and business men protested. "We won't pay."

They did not pay. More than $140,000,000 in taxes for the last four years remains unpaid. While 88 per cent of the 1928 taxes was sent in, only 65 per cent of the 1929 assessments was met and the 1930 and 1931 tax statements lie on the City Treasurer's desk unused.

The middle dates from a reassessment a few years ago. Middle class folk complained that $15,000,000 in personal property, trust estates, bank deposits and other holdings of the rich had been left off the tax rolls. Rate home owners organized, retained attorneys.

A test case was brought in behalf of Mrs. Lillian Cisar, an Oak Park widow. She refused to pay taxes on her home because the assessment was unfair.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki heard the case.

"Scandalous and a crying shame," he said of the tax apportionment. "What can be fair about an assessment that deliberately omits $15,000,000,000 of taxable wealth?"

Judge Jarecki declared the 1928 and 1929 tax rolls void. Since the 1930 roll was based on that of 1928 it also presumably is illegal.

The decision was appealed to the Illinois Supreme Court this week. Unless the high court reverses Judge Jarecki, the whole taxing scheme of the city and county will have to be revamped before taxpayers can be compelled to pay.

Last Tuesday Superior Judge C. A. Williams issued a writ of mandamus to place the $15,000,000,000 of personal property on the tax lists. If the Supreme Court upholds the order, enough valuation would be added to cut the tax rate in half.

But how soon the complicated tangle of suits, appeals and writs will be cleared up so money actually will start pouring into municipal coffers again is problematical. The state legislature, meeting in special sessions to pass laws to remake the tax machinery, is at logger heads. One relief bill was killed in a test vote. It will be reconsidered next week.

As the matter stands, citizens howled about their taxes, refused to pay them, and a court upheld them. They are in revolt with legal sanction.

Appeals of officials and civic leaders that homeowners pay now and trust to later court rulings for re-apportionment have gone unheeded. Not a cent in taxes has been paid since Judge Jarecki's ruling.

The Chicago Tribune, in an editorial headed "A Stout Thief On A Starved Jackass," placed the blame in these words:

"The voters elected officials to steal the public funds. The officials stole the funds. To replenish them, they raised taxation and stole more funds."

"Theft and taxation climbed together. Corruption and collapse were twins from one cradle."

"This impossible structure of graft was about to fall of its own weight when bad times came to take the taxpayer on the other flank. That settled it. In Chicago the very machinery for levying taxes had to break down under its sins. Other cities went to ruin without that added cause."

"American democracy has given its demagogic and dishonest political system enough rope, but the system has not hung itself but the demagogue. Charlatans of reform, brainless windbags, credulous alms-seekers, sour bigots and fat scoundrels have crossed the country as a plague of locusts and the fields are left bare."

Whatever the cause, the crisis grows hourly more acute. There is a tenseness even where want, cold and hunger have not yet laid claim. Knowing that hundreds of thousands are existing from meal to meal by charity, the millions who have not yet suffered have begun to wonder.

"Will we be next, if the city goes under?" is a question none can answer now.

Here are some significant figures in the Chicago financial situation.

Population—3,500,000.
Total value taxation property—$40,000,000,000.
Number unemployed—623,000.
Supported by charity—500,000.
Taxes uncollected—$140,000,000.
Unpaid city employees—30,000 (including teachers).
Unpaid school teachers—14,000.
Amount owed to teachers—$20,000,000.
Relief fund raised for charity—$10,500,000.

Know Illinois

The 1932 convention of the Republican party will be held in Chicago, the site of ten of its twenty national conventions held since the party took its present name in 1854.

Corn has been the leading crop in Illinois as far back as records are available.

The American flag was first unfurled in Illinois by George Rogers Clark at Fort Massac in 1778.

Twenty-one Illinois counties have more than 50,000 population; nine have more than 100,000; and only nine have less than 10,000.

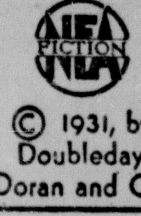

The 1930 census shows that about 85 per cent of the area of Illinois is in farms.

Three of the thirteen original states—Virginia, Massachusetts and

PAINFUL PILES

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves. It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonard's prescription—H. E. M. ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Rowland's Pharmacy says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile misery or money back.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
ANN and CHARLEY FENWICK have for years supported themselves by their own hands. ANN, the younger sister, MARY-FRANCES, and their grandparents, known as "ROSA LEE" and "GRAND." Because of this financial responsibility, Ann, who is 28, is unable to marry HARRY McKEL, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name their wedding date for the same reason.

MARY-FRANCES, 15, and still in school, strikes up an acquaintance with EARL DE ARMOUNT, vaudeville actor, and meets him secretly. He tries to persuade her to become his stage partner.

Ann and Phil quarrel when she hears LETTY KING, who works in EARL's office building, address him with endearments. Then, a city learns Harry has left town without telling her. She is much disturbed.

De Armount continues to urge Mary-Frances to join his vaudeville act.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXXIII

"I CAN'T help it," said Mary-Frances. "My family would never in this world think of letting me."

"Your family? Cripes!" said Earl. "Say, listen, hon. I'd be the last man on earth to influence any girl, let alone you, against her parents' wishes or anything—see? But you ain't got a happy home life nor anything. And you're crazy about me, and I'm crazy about you—see? Now, look at it from that point of view. And leave me tell you this: A girl with your looks and shape could sure go far—travel, see the world—"

"And come home," dreamed Mary-Frances, "be rich and famous, and bring presents to everybody, and all would be forgiven, and—"

"Well, yeah, sure. Now, after I got that letter from But yesterday I got to thinking—see? I got to take his bus back—see? Well, what I was thinking was, why couldn't you and I just skip out, most any night now, in the bus together. No parting, nor keeping in touch through letters, like you said—"

"I didn't say 'keeping in touch through letters.'"

"Well, whatever it was. We'd be in Denver in sight of a week, and—"

"Elope?" stammered Mary-Frances. She had, of course, planned for six bridesmaids, and Earlmurder as maid of honor. But—

"Have you heard about Mary-Frances Fenwick and that handsome, famous actor? It is—"

"Well—er—hon—I've been meaning for quite a while to tell you about that. As a matter of fact, I'm not fixed to get married for about four months yet—see? By the terms of my father's will I can't get married until I'm 23 years old—see?"

Whether or not Mary-Frances saw, she did not immediately say, and no wonder. Here was material for thought. She might have paused to doubt that Earl's father had ever made such a silly will—fathers rarely do so. She might have been considering Earl's age in connection with the possibility, at least, that he had been married and divorced and could not remarry before a year had elapsed. Or, granting her trustfulness, or credulity, or both, and without accusing her of cupidry, she might have been speculating as to the extent of the fortune to which Earl was so soon to fall heir. Her answer finally spoken, may or may not be indicative of the thought processes that contrived it.

"I ain't," Earl went on, "that I don't see your point of view and all like that. But I'm a gentleman. If you know anything about me by this time you must know that. I'm a gentleman—see? And I give you my word of honor—my holy word of honor—that I'd treat you square, see? Straight, see? And when I mean straight I don't mean maybe. And you won't be much more anxious than I am for the final—that is to say, for the final time to come when we can get married and everything open and above-board—see? Until that time comes, I'm telling you, Frank—pals, buddies, absolutely. No more and no less, see?"

"Well," demurred Mary-Frances, "I'll think it over again. But I don't much believe I'd better go."

"Think it over—uh? Say, listen, Frankie, if this was any other girl but you I'd think you was stringing me—see? Playing me for a sucker. I know you ain't. I know how pure and sincere and unselfish you are and everything. But, just the same, you've been thinking this matter over for weeks now—see? We haven't got any more time to waste—see? Here it is June already and we got to go to Denver, and get the guy there to fix us up on an act, and we got to rehearse it and get to Chicago in time for a decent booking in the fall. Now, like I was saying, we're crazy about one another. All right, why can't we take the bus and skip most any night now? You could tell your folks you was spending the night with your chum, and we'd beat it. I can't keep on sticking around here—see? Come on, now, Frankie? You ain't going to leave me cold—not after everything you've said and all, are you? Come on, now. Give me your promise, and we'll seal it, like you say, with a sweet little kiss."

"Quite a little one," stipulated Mary-Frances.

Earl said, "Cripes!" when the little kiss was over, but he went on to say, "Sometimes it kind of seems to me that you just take it all out in talking, Frankie."

"Earl!" said Mary-Frances. "Heart's dearest!"

"Sure. I know. I'm glad you're that type and all—see? But what must say, Earl—"

"Now, hon, don't get sore. Don't do it. I shouldn't of talked that way. You'll have to excuse me. I just forgot myself. What I mean to say is—well, how I mean is—I need you, Frankie; honest I do."

The crown was heavy for her pretty young head. Her chin went down instead of up. Intuitively she knew that she had won the guerdon of womankind, "I need you." But the trouble was, though she was aware of its worth and unaware of its dangers, she did not want it. Agenor was not her grandpa.

"I ain't," Earl went on, "that I don't see your point of view and all like that. But I'm a gentleman. If you know anything about me by this time you must know that. I'm a gentleman—see? And I give you my word of honor—my holy word of honor—that I'd treat you square, see? Straight, see? And when I mean straight I don't mean maybe. And you won't be much more anxious than I am for the final—that is to say, for the final time to come when we can get married and everything open and above-board—see? Until that time comes, I'm telling you, Frank—pals, buddies, absolutely. No more and no less, see?"

"Well," demurred Mary-Frances, "I'll think it over again. But I don't much believe I'd better go."

"Think it over—uh? Say, listen, Frankie, if this was any other girl but you I'd think you was stringing me—see? Playing me for a sucker. I know you ain't. I know how pure and sincere and unselfish you are and everything. But, just the same, you've been thinking this matter over for weeks now—see? We haven't got any more time to waste—see? Here it is June already and we got to go to Denver, and get the guy there to fix us up on an act, and we got to rehearse it and get to Chicago in time for a decent booking in the fall. Now, like I was saying, we're crazy about one another. All right, why can't we take the bus and skip most any night now? You could tell your folks you was spending the night with your chum, and we'd beat it. I can't keep on sticking around here—see? Come on, now, Frankie? You ain't going to leave me cold—not after everything you've said and all, are you? Come on, now. Give me your promise, and we'll seal it, like you say, with a sweet little kiss."

"Quite a little one," stipulated Mary-Frances.

Earl said, "Cripes!" when the little kiss was over, but he went on to say, "Sometimes it kind of seems to me that you just take it all out in talking, Frankie."

"Earl!" said Mary-Frances. "Heart's dearest!"

"Sure. I know. I'm glad you're that type and all—see? But what about the promise?"

"I'll give you my answer on Tuesday night."

"Nix, hon. Now. Now or never—that's a good rule. You got to make up your mind, and that's all there is to it—see? I got to beat it out here by the middle of the week at the latest."

"I have to think it over some more," said Mary-Frances. "I just have to."

"How about tomorrow night, Monday, then?"

"Ermintrude, I have promised to give him my answer this very night!"—"Tomorrow night, then, beloved."

"Yes or no, then, tomorrow night. No kidding? No fooling?"

"I promise," said Mary-Frances.

CECILY said, "You know, Ann, I do feel sort of better," and pushed away the bowl, emptied now of its hot, stimulating milk, and nibbled at the last crumbs of toast.

"Not," she explained, "that I'm happier—but, well, just spunkier, maybe. You have been good for me, angel."

Ann asked, "I, or the hot milk after you'd eaten nothing since yesterday?" and added, "Sister's girl," and picked up the bowl and plate to wash them along with the other dishes piled in the sink.

"I'll put a little on, Cecily sighed. "I suppose we'll have to do those ding dishes tonight. Mary-Frances might have washed them for once. It wouldn't have hurt her."

"It is on and boiling. I'll wash them; you dry them. Mary-Frances would have, if you'd told her. She just doesn't think."

"Well, we thought. We had to, when we were her age."

"I know. But we were different."

"Yes, but why were we? I think we are different yet. And what is the matter with us, anyway? Other girls grow up and have jobs, and boy friends, and good times, and are happy. After a while they get engaged, and then they get married and have babies and keep on being happy. Look at us. Quarrelling with our beaus and everything. Just a mess."

"Well—Don't pour that water over them, honey. It's too hot. Never mind. It was only a jelly glass. What was I saying? Oh, yes. We've had worries and responsibilities all along. Sometimes I think Phil was right when he said that we didn't have any definite point that we could place and begin to hope—"

"Hope! Shoot, Ann—that's what we do best. That's what we've always done—wait around and hope. You told me yourself, half an hour ago, not to hope. It is the best bit of advice I've had. Look at Grand and Rosalie—hoping. Two summer homes, and—"

"Poor dears," said Ann.

Blasts Deface Scenic Hudson At Mt. Taurus

Chicago — When, during the course of the Revolutionary War, George Washington camped beside a small but cold spring of water near what is today the village of Cold Spring, New York, he probably heard the loud explosions of old-fashioned cannons. But the damage which they did was as nothing compared to the dynamite blast which shattered the quiet of the Hudson Valley a short time ago and ripped a part of the face from Mt. Taurus, one of New York's most beautiful and historic landmarks, says the Izaak Walton League Conservation Department.

A recent bulletin of the League sounds a call to arms to outdoor fans and conservationists, urging a united effort to save Mount Taurus from the hands of a commercial development which calls for the quarrying of rock from this landmark, thus causing irreparable defacement of one of the Hudson River's most beautiful peaks.

Taurus, which rises 1450 feet, is north of the village of Cold Spring. It forms the eastern pillar to the Gateway to the Highlands which General Washington guarded so carefully throughout the Revolution. A representative from the National Headquarters of the Izaak Walton League visited the mountain recently to inspect the operations there. He found Taurus yielding to the attacks of the stone crushers. But New York conservation organizations, including the State Department of Conservation, and the New York State Council of Parks, the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society and both the State Division and national organization of the Izaak Walton League are still fighting to save this magnificent rocky height which contributes to the scenic beauty of the Hudson River.

CIVIL WAR VET DIES
Herkimer, N. Y. — (UPI)—Taps has sounded for Herkimer's last surviving Civil War veteran—Christopher C. Pierce, 84, Pierce, seized with an attack of pneumonia, joined the last fighting ranks of what once was a mighty army. He saw duty with the Second New York Heavy Artillery.

NEWTON DIEHL BAKER, above, Secretary of War under President Wilson ..... Paternal great-grandfather was captain in Revolutionary army. His father, later a doctor at Martinsburg, W. Va., was a Confederate cavalryman under the dashing "Jeb" Stuart. Six years after the elder Baker had ridden away from Appomattox, Newton D. Baker was born. At 8, his father started his education by reading to him from carefully selected courses. They studied Latin and history, and at 15 the boy was reading books often left to persons twice his age. This helped him finish his college course in three years. Following graduation in law at Washington and Lee University, returned to Martinsburg to practice. Moved to Cleveland, Ohio, there became the famous "boy orator" for Tom L. Johnson and followed him into major's chair. Appointed Secretary of War in 1916, the same day that Villa raided Columbus, N. Mex. and served throughout the World War.

JUDGE BENJAMIN NATHAN CARDOZO, above, chief justice of the New York Court of Appeals. Born in New York City, May 24, 1870, the son of Judge Albert Cardozo. Educated at Columbia, where a professor once said of him, "There goes the man who writes the most powerful English of any Columbia student since Alexander Hamilton." Son of Chief Justice Hughes was once his secretary. Al Smith likes to refer to him as "My private counsel." Always rises at 6 A. M., in office at 7:30, in court by 9. Never an athlete in school, took up golf in later life and became "My club's worst player." For pleasure, reads Latin and Greek. Educated in arts, dislikes theaters, but likes movies, especially animal pictures. He is of Portuguese-Jewish descent from a family in this country 200 years. Had a great uncle who, as a rabbi, participated in the inauguration ceremonies for George Washington. Mother died when he was 9. He never married.

Sidelights In News In Capital
Of United States

BY UNITED PRESS

Washington, Jan. 15.—(UP)—Senator Hiram W. Johnson (the "W" stands for Warren) of California is in his element these days. He is having another fling at the international bankers. President Hoover, on whom Johnson wastes no affection, beset by many troubles. Everything that happens seems to be "down Johnson's alley." They are even asking him to run for President—and the lowdown on that is that he'll let them ask him but he doesn't feel himself for a moment into thinking he can win.

Johnson is one of the most interesting men of the Senate. He comes from a politically-minded family out in California. His father, the late Grove L. Johnson, was a Republican wheel horse for years in the California legislature. When Johnson first ran for Governor of California his father, then still active in politics, did not look with favor on the onslaughts of his son upon the existing Republican organization.

Johnson started as a court reporter. He studied law in his father's office. After the San Francisco earthquake and fire there came a political and social reaction which resulted in the notorious "San Francisco graft prosecution. Johnson follows the old California name for it—the "boodoo cases."

He was on the prosecutor's staff

Then Francis J. Heney, special prosecutor, was shot in the courtroom one afternoon. Johnson, who until then was chiefly known as "a pretty good lawyer" stepped into his place and he was hardly been off the front pages of the newspapers since. He sent Abe Ruef, the California boss, to prison.

In 1910 he ran for Governor of California. He had little financial backing but he charged up and down the state shouting that he would "kick the Southern Pacific out of politics." He won and did as he said he would do. The railroad company, which had dominated politics in California for years, never has been able to come back.

Johnson was born with an impediment in his speech. He calls it "tongue-tied." His uncle, for whom he was named, spent hours drilling him in the pronunciation of syllables. Now he has the fastest and one of the plainest deliveries in the Senate. The Senate stenographers like to take Johnson's speeches because of the clarity of his pronunciation, his clear rhetoric and his knack of rounding out completely every sentence.

He uses long sentences, but they are well spoken, with the emphasis in the right place. He fans the air with outstretched palms and waves his arms like a shadow boxer. He has tremendous endurance. He spoke twice a day for a fortnight during the London naval treaty debate without, as one man who heard it all describes it, "dropping a syllable or missing an adverb." His office is one of the ideal "hideaways" of the Capitol. It can be reached only through a tortuous passageway with an entrance so obscure it is impossible to direct anyone to it—they must be led the first time.

In the Senate his seat is in the middle of the first row. He is more than average regular in attendance and is attentive to what goes on. His brain works so fast and his tongue is so sharp that none in the Senate ever deliberately invites a tilt with him.

He doesn't have very high regard for Senator Samuel Shortridge, his colleague from California.
